An ACT for the more effectual ſuppreſſing and preventing of Lotteries.

WHEREAS many miſchievous and unlawful Games, called Lotteries, have been ſet up in this Province, which tend to the manifeſt Corruption of Youth, and the Ruin and Impoveriſhment of many poor Families: And whereas ſuch pernicious Practices may not only give Opportunities to evil diſpoſed Perſons to cheat and defraud the honeſt Inhabitants of this Province, but prove introductive of Vice, Idleneſs and Immorality, injurious to Trade, Commerce and Induſtry, and againſt the Common Good, Welfare and Peace of this Province; For remedying whereof, Be it enacted, adjudged and declared, and it is hereby enacted, adjudged and declared by the Honourable JAMES HAMILTON, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor, under the Honourable THOMAS PENN, and RICHARD PENN, Eſquires, true and abſolute Proprietaries of the Province of Pennſylvania, and Counties of New-Caſtle, Kent, and Suſſex, upon Delaware, by and with the Advice and Conſent of the Repreſentatives of the Freemen of the ſaid Province, in General Aſſembly met, and by the Authority of the ſame, That all Lotteries whatſoever, whether public or private, are common and public Nuſances, and againſt the common Good and Welfare of this Province.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That from and after the Publication of this Act, no Perſon or Perſons whatſoever, ſhall publickly or privately ſet up, erect, make, exerciſe, keep open, ſhew, or expoſe to be played at, drawn at, or thrown at, or ſhall cauſe or procure the ſame to be done, either by Dice, Lots, Cards, Balls, Tickets, or any other Numbers or Figures, or in any other Manner or Way whatſoever; and that every Perſon or Perſons that ſhall ſet up, erect, make, exerciſe, keep open, ſhew or expoſe to be played at, drawn, or thrown at, any ſuch Lottery, Play or Device, or that ſhall cauſe or procure the ſame to be done after the Publication of this Act, and ſhall be thereof legally convicted in any Court of Quarter Seſſions, within the Juriſdiction whereof the ſaid Offences ſhall be committed, or in the Supream Court, if thereunto removed from any of the inferior Courts within this Province, ſhall forfeit and pay the Sum of Five Hundred Pounds, lawful Money of Pennſylvania.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That all and every Perſon and Perſons whatſoever, that ſhall buy, ſell, or expoſe to Sale, or that ſhall advertiſe, or cauſe to be advertiſed the Sale of any Ticket or Tickets, or Device whatſoever in ſuch Lotteries, Plays or Devices, or that ſhall be aiding, aſſiſting, or in any Ways concerned in managing, conducting, or carrying on ſuch Lotteries, Plays and Devices, by whatſoever Name the ſame may be called, and be legally convicted thereof in either of the Courts aforeſaid, ſhall forfeit and pay the Sum of Twenty Pounds, lawful Money of Pennſylvania, for every ſuch Offence.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That all and every Perſon and Perſons whatſoever, that ſhall within this Province buy, ſell, or expoſe to Sale, or ſhall advertiſe, or cauſe to be advertiſed, the Sale of any Ticket or Tickets, or other Device whatſoever, in any Lottery, Play, or Device whatſoever, which ſhall be hereafter ſet up, erected, made, exerciſed, kept open, ſhewn, or expoſed to be drawn at, played at, or thrown at, in, or at any Place or Places out of this Province (State Lotteries, erected and licenſed by Act of Parliament in Great-Britain, only excepted and foreprized) and be thereof legally convicted in Manner aforeſaid, ſhall forfeit and pay the Sum of Twenty Pounds, lawful Money of Pennſylvania, for every ſuch Offence.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That all the Fines, Forfeitures and Penalties hereby inflicted, ſhall be paid to the Overſeers of the Poor for the Time being, for the Uſe of the Poor of the City, Borough or Townſhip, where any of the ſaid Offences ſhall be committed.

Provided always, nevertheleſs, that nothing herein contained ſhall be deemed, or taken to extend to any Lottery advertiſed in the public News Papers of this Province on or before the Fourth Day of February, in the Year of our Lord One Thouſand Seven Hundred and Sixty-two, nor to the ſelling or buying of any Ticket or Tickets in ſuch Lottery, any Thing herein contained to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

And be it enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Clauſe in an Act of Aſſembly of this Province, intituled, "An Act for regulating Pedlars and Vendues," &c. enacting, That if any Perſon or Perſons ſhall preſume to take upon him, her or themſelves, from and after the Publication of ſaid Act, upon any Pretence whatſoever, privately or publickly to ſet up, exerciſe or keep any Lottery or Lotteries within the Province of Pennſylvania, and be thereof legally convicted, he, ſhe or they, ſhall forfeit One Hundred Pounds; one Moiety thereof to the Governor, the other Moiety to any Perſon that will ſue for the ſame; is hereby repealed, and declared to be null, void, and of no Effect.

MENTZ, November 1.

A BURGHER of this town, after eight years labour, preſented laſt week to the Regency a new piece of artillery, not of metal, but of paſte, compoſed of animal gelly and tow, which carries a ball 400 Yards, and will beat down walls at that diſtance. The ball is alſo of a particular compoſition. The piece need not be ſpunged till it has fired an hundred times; it weighs but fifty pounds, and each ball but two and a half; ſo that one man may carry the piece, and another the ammunition.

Cadiz, Oct. 24. Letters from Algiers adviſe, that the Dey took it into his head to ſhut up all the Roman Catholic churches in one day, and to impriſon all the miſſionaries.

Letter from Brugge, near Eimbeck, Nov. 12. "The French have entirely quitted this diſtrict. The greateſt part of their army is at preſent encamped at Moringen. Yeſterday the Allies entered Eimbeck: The French had quitted it the 10th, with the following circumſtances: At nine in the morning M. Broglio, who remained in the Town with a guard, after the departure of the troops, gave orders to ſet fire to the mines which had been dug ſome weeks before, both under the ramparts, and under the gates of Altendorf and Eſt, and the Water Tower. The exploſion was terrible; the ground ſhook; the windows of ſeveral houſes in the town were broke; and many perſons wounded by ſplinters of the ſtones. M. Broglio himſelf, who rode through the town on horſeback, to calm the alarms of the inhabitants, and prevent the ſoldiers from committing any exceſſes, was ſeveral times in danger of being cruſhed to death. Gen. Waldener was actually killed on the ſpot, by a large ſtone falling upon him. The town of Eimbeck, and its neighbourhood, reſemble nothing ſo much as a deſart. The different diſtricts have been foraged. Nobody knows yet where they ſhall have neceſſaries and forage during the winter."

Madrid, Nov. 2. The Viceroy of Peru writes, that he had been [illegible] that there is [illegible], a native of that town, who is now aged 140. He has had three wives; by the firſt he had fifteen children; by the ſecond, four; and by the third, nine; beſides ſome natural children, in the intervals of his marriages. He has the ſatisfaction to ſee his fifth generation, and count 800 perſons deſcended from him. He has never had any ſickneſs, feels now none of the infirmities of old age, and can walk a league and a half on foot.

Paris, Nov. 13. The Marquis de Puyſegur, Lieut. General, is gone to Havre de Grace, by order of the Court, to cauſe new flat-bottomed veſſels to be built, and more convenient than the old ones, to go with oars. It is reported, that ſome ſloops of defence will be built in all the dock-yards of the kingdom, on the model invented by the Chevalier de Grammont, in 1752. They carry 80 men and one 36 pounder, and move either with ſails or oars, and have a deck; and, as they draw only 28 or 32 inches, they can go in ſhore any where without danger; conſequently can hinder large ſhips from attempting any thing againſt our coaſts.

A body of between 25 and 30,000 men is aſſembling in Brittany; which, with other preparations, ſufficiently indicate an approaching expedition; of which the Viſcount de Belſunce, and the Chevalier de St. Croix, who are both at Breſt, will probably have the direction.

Aire, in Artois, Nov. 9. Yeſterday, Sunday the 8th inſt. at 7 in the evening, an extraordinary courier from London, who had a paſſport, aſked the gates to be opened, and to be ſupplied with freſh horſes. M. de Laval, the King's Lieutenant in this town, ordered him to be admitted, and having examined his paſſport, gave orders for furniſhing him with horſes, and gave him leave to paſs through the town. It is evident that he was going ſtraight to Verſailles.

Cadiz, Nov. 3. The King's Ships, the Ferme and the Perte, having two Dutch ſhips, laden with troops and ammunition, under their convoy, ſet ſail this day for the Havannah and Carthagena in America; as alſo a veſſel called the Bergera, with quick-ſilver, for Vera Cruz; and another ſhip for Honduras.

Bourdeaux, Nov. 18. The Parliament of this city is made choice of by the King to try the Civil and Military Offices of Canada, accuſed of high miſdemeanors; and is ordered to puniſh the guilty with the utmoſt rigour.

Venice, Nov. 10. The politicians of this city conſider the alliance between the Ottoman Porte and the King of Pruſſia, as a treaty of great conſequence. They pretend, that the ſcope of it is to ballance the quadruple alliance between the Courts of Vienna, Peterſburgh, Warſaw, and Venice; by which the power of the Turks has been effectually kept within bounds. The object of this, if they are to be believed, is to reſtrain the power of the Roman and Ruſſian Empires, and to preſerve not only the Crown of Pruſſia, but alſo other Princes and States, who are invited to accede thereto, in the quiet poſſeſſion of their reſpective dominions, conſtitution, and independency; in conſequence of which, the Ottoman Porte will be at all times at liberty to interfere with the affairs of Europe, in caſe any of the contracting parties are attacked by either or by both thoſe Empires.

LONDON.

Nov. 17. A brig with a figure head, ſuppoſed to be an American veſſel, was taken within 4 or 5 miles of Stromneſs-harbour, in the Orkneys, by a cutter privateer, the 31ſt of October.

Nov. 19. The ſloop Pandora, Capt. Higgs, from Boſton to Bermuda, was taken the 11th of Auguſt, by the Colibre, a French letter of marque, bound to Marſeilles, and ranſomed for 1000 pieces of eight. The ranſomer is arrived at Marſeilles. [A gentleman who was lately a priſoner of war in France writes as follows. In the priſon I was conducted to, there was a ranſomer, a mate of an Engliſh merchant ſhip, who aſſured me, that the dungeon we were in, had been cleared three ſeveral times by cartel ſince his confinement; and that by what he could learn, there was no probability of his being ever releaſed, as the owners had ſold the ſhip, and were become bankrupts; that the maſter was not able, and he (the ranſomer) had no friends who had knowledge how to apply for, or intereſt to procure his enlargement. This poor man, it ſeems, is not the only ſufferer by the ſame means; there are now (it is ſaid) in different priſons in France, ſeveral officers of merchant ſhips (officers being generally taken as ranſomers) who by the ingratitude of the owners and captains of their reſpective veſſels, in neglecting to procure the releaſe of their ranſomers, and by the ignorance and incapacity of their friends, are left to linger out the remainder of their days in a loathſome priſon. And to add to the misfortune of theſe unhappy men, if the ranſom-money is not paid in a reaſonable time, they are looked upon in a worſe light than other priſoners of war, and are even conſidered as criminals, and accordingly treated with great rigour. This, too, is ſaid to be a growing evil, there being wicked men, who make a practice of over inſuring their ſhips, and contrive that they may fall into the enemy's hands. What a pity it is, theſe villains ſhould be the occaſion of ſuch dreadful ſufferings to many brave and honeſt men, for a little filthy lucre.]

Nov. 21. His Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint Henry Ellis, Eſq; of the Temple, Governor of Nova Scotia.

We hear from Edinburgh, that a very fine coal mine, has lately been diſcovered near the city of Aberdeen, to the great joy of that part of the country, it being the firſt ever diſcovered in the north of Scotland.

Nov. 24. Several Engliſh priſoners, who arrived from Spain laſt week, report, that at St. Lucar the inhabitants have got French commiſſions; and that as ſoon as they find any Engliſh veſſel of but ſmall force within ſoundings, or within a league of the land, they, with one Frenchman on board, put off their row-boats, and bring her in. A few weeks ſince Capt. Whitlock, from Philadelphia, was taken priſoner in this manner, and his ſhip condemned. The maſter of a veſſel who arrived laſt Thurſday from a priſon in Spain, ſays, that he was taken by a French ſloop, called the Flambeau, Stephen Darnaud, commander, in lat. 39, 30, long. 18, 30. The captain and officers of the privateer were French; but out of 65, who compoſed the crew, there was only one Frenchman, moſt of the others being Spaniards. As he was kept a priſoner on board ſome days, he aſked Capt. Darnaud to what port he had ordered the prize; to which he anſwered, to Cadiz, for that Signior Merchaund, of that city, was one of the owners of the privateer. After the Flambeau had taken many Engliſh veſſels, ſhe put into St. Lucar, a Spaniſh port, about 15 miles from Cadiz; at which time ſhe had but 40 men on board, having put the other 25 men on board the prize. At this port the privateer was fitted out again, was ſupplied with proviſions, warlike-ſtores, and her complement of men was raiſed to 85, moſt of them Spaniards; and at this very time ſhe is out on a cruize. On the firſt of this month, there were 12 Spaniſh men of war of the line in Cadiz Bay, well manned, victualled, and ready to put to ſea at an hour's notice; and at Ferrol, ſome months ſince, the ſhipwrights had received ſtrict orders to get ready for ſea, with all expedition, every man of war in that port. In the laſt Spaniſh war, after two years time, the French made juſt the like preparations; and when their fleet was ready to put to ſea, they joined the Spaniards.

They write from Potſdam, that the magnificent preſents which the King of Pruſſia hath prepared for the Grand Signior, had juſt been ſent to Magdebourg to be viewed by the Queen before they be forwarded to England, where they are to be embarked on board a man of war of the line for Conſtantinople.

By private letters from Bremen we learn, that, by an order from Prince Ferdinand, after the laſt attempt the French made upon that city, the regiment of city guards was diſarmed, and a few days after diſmiſſed as unneceſſary; and that ſeveral thouſand men work night and day, Sunday not excepted, upon the fortifications, in order to extend them.

All the young men in the Pruſſian dominions, being moved with the diſtreſs and deſolation of their native country, enter voluntarily into that ſervice for a limited time, and upon certain conditions.

They write from the Hague, that the Chapter of Munſter have wrote again to the States-General, deſiring their good offices with the Court of London to obtain ſome abatement of the heavy contributions exacted from them by the Allied army; but that their High Mightineſſes did not expect to have more ſucceſs now, than in their former applications on this head.

Nov. 26. An opinion prevails ſtrongly at Warſaw, that a ſeparate treaty of peace between their Poliſh and Pruſſian Majeſties is very far advanced; and, in caſe a certain power will give its guaranty, will be very ſpeedily concluded. There are, however, very different accounts of its contents, as well as the manner in which it has been effected. Some will have it the work intirely of a Saxon miniſter, in order to recover his credit with the royal family and his countrymen. Others imagine that the Poliſh lords, who have the honour of the King's confidence, managed this great affair; and ſo digeſted the plan of pacification, as to render it equally acceptable to both monarchs.

The Emperor's late illneſs alarmed the Court of Vienna inexpreſſibly; an inflammation in the throat from a cold had, for two or three days, a very threatening appearance. His death, at ſo critical a juncture, would moſt certainly have had ſome very untoward conſequences that were foreſeen, and might poſſibly have produced others beyond the reach of human penetration. The ſtrict union between two Electors, and a rumour that a third may poſſibly ſeek his own ſecurity, by concurring with them, and demanding the immediate evacuation of the Empire by all the foreign troops, is an event that the Auſtrian miniſtry cannot look upon with indifference.

Yeſterday the following honourable gentlemen were made Admirals, viz. Sir William Burnaby, James Young, Eſq; Edward Pratten, Eſq; Sir Piercy Brett, John Moore, Eſq; Richard Tyrrell, Eſq; Lord Colvill, Lord Edgecombe, Robert Swanton, Eſq; Hon. Auguſtus Keppel, Eſq; John Amherſt, Eſq; and Coningſby Norbury, Eſq. Sir John Bentley, and William Gordon, Eſq; declined accepting the flag; the former is a commiſſioner of the navy, and the latter is to be made a commiſſioner.

Dec. 1. Some letters from Peterſburgh adviſe, that General Totleben hath been put to death, the Empreſs having rejected all the petitions preſented by his daughter, imploring her clemency; but theſe letters do not mention what death he ſuffered.

We hear, that amongſt other embelliſhments to this capital, it is intended to erect two elegant emblematical ſtatues over the great arch at the Horſe Guards, which are to repreſent Oeconomy and Arrogance. Theſe ſtatues are now nearly finiſhed by Mr. Townſhend, ſtatuary, in Oxford road.-----It is intended by theſe figures, to repreſent, that Britain with Oeconomy may defy the combin'd world.

Dec. 3. According to the laſt letters from India, the interior parts of that extenſive empire are in a moſt diſtracted and deſolate condition. After the Vizir had murdered the reigning Mogul, and ſet up another young Prince of the Imperial Family, he called in the Marattas to his aſſiſtance. Theſe Marattas inhabit along the mountains about 80 miles from Bombay, and are not Mohammedans, but of the original natives of the country hitherto unſubdued by the Moguls: This brought in the Patans, who are Mohammedans, and inhabit chiefly the northern parts of India, their King having married the late Mogul's daughter, and in her right he ſet up his ſon, a child. The capital of the Empire Delly was taken and retaken ſeveral times, during a war of 14 months; about the middle of laſt January that deciſive action was fought, of which the Patan relation has been printed in our papers. This has entirely ruined the Marattas, who, excluſive of 50,000 men killed on the ſpot, have loſt their camp, baggage, artillery, and all they had to loſe. The Shah Zadda, ſon to Allumger, the Mogul who was murdered, is at preſent at Bengal, under the protection of our Eaſt-India company.

It is ſaid Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick is expected in England about Chriſtmas.

Dec. 5. The Storke, Capt. Cally, from New-England to Bilboa, is taken and carried into Paſſage.

The Betſey, Cathcart, from Peterſburgh to the Orkneys and Boſton, was driven aſhore at the Orkneys, and received ſome damage in her keel, which has obliged her to unload; but ſhe will ſoon proceed on her voyage.

The new regiment which the Marquis de Caulincourt is raiſing of French deſerters at Hamburgh, for the ſervice of Sweden, fills faſt. It is to conſiſt, it is ſaid, of 3000 men, and is to be named the French Legion, and to be commanded by a French officer, who is not to be ſubordinate even to the Commander in Chief of the Swediſh forces.

Extract of a letter from Quebec, Auguſt 13.

"There are ſeven regiments left in Canada, that is, four at Quebec, viz. the 47th, 58th, ſecond battalion of Royal Americans, and Fraſer's Highlanders; and three at Montreal, viz. the 44th, 46th, and fourth battalion of Royal Americans.

"I cannot but pity our Britiſh merchants, who have imported 300,000 l. worth of European goods to this place this year. They have very few purchaſers beſide the army, for the Canadians have very little money."

Extract of a letter from on board his Majeſty's ſhip America, at Bombay, April 23, 1761.

"This ſhip expected to have been concerned in a ſecond conqueſt on the Malabar coaſt (after Pondicherry) of a place called Mahie, within a league of Tillicherry, but Major Monro, with the reinforcement he brought from Europe, of Parſlow's and the Highlanders, intimidated the enemy ſo much, that they capitulated a month before we arrived, having made exceeding good terms for themſelves.

"We ſail to protect the Coromandel coaſt in ſix weeks, with five ſhips of the line; the reſt are refitting here with all expedition."

Dec. 12. According to letters by the laſt ſhips from the Indies, it ſeems not at all impoſſible that the Prince who lately demanded the protection of the Britiſh Company, may be hereafter ſeated on the throne of the Moguls. The Vizir who aſſaſſinated his maſter the late Emperor Allumpeer is fled into a diſtant province with the young Prince of the race of Timur, whom he proclaimed by the name of Shah Jehan, as the defeat of the Marattas took from him all hopes of ſafety. The Patans finding diſturbances ariſing in their own country, have dropped the deſign of placing their own King's ſon upon the throne, and it is believed they either have proclaimed, or will proclaim, Shah Zadda, Uncle to that young Prince, Emperor of Indoſtan at Delly.

NEW-YORK, February 22.

Letters, dated Cape-Francois, Nov. 9, 1761, from Mr. John Robinſon, of this place, late mate of the ſloop Friendſhip, Capt. Robert Hutchins, belonging to Jamaica, informs, that the ſaid ſloop was taken about 17 months ago, and ranſomed for 400 piſtoles; that Robinſon went as hoſtage; and altho' the owners at Jamaica, Richard Bellomy, and others, were frequently applied to for the hoſtage money, yet they very inhumanly ſuffered him to be kept in goal at the Cape; notwithſtanding there were ſeveral opportunities for them to have ſent up the money; that at the time Mr. Robinſon wrote, he had then been confined near 14 months, and had no proſpect of being relieved; that he had been reduced to great diſtreſs while under confinement; and that had it not been for the aſſiſtance of one or two Engliſh gentlemen, who happily were at that place, he muſt have died for want of the neceſſaries of life.

† GEORGE SMITH, or WILLIAM CLINTON.

Extract of a letter from an Engliſh officer in Germany, dated November 14.

ON the 2d day of November, at 12 o'clock at night, orders were given to Lord Granby's reſerve, conſiſting of ſeven battalions, ſix ſquadrons of dragoons, eight of huſſars, and the chaſſeurs of Frazer, to march the next morning from their camp of Groſs Hilligsfeld to that of Hemendorp.

On the 4th, Prince Ferdinand with the army paſſed the Weſer, and encamped not far from Haſtenbeck, and Lord Granby's reſerve encamped behind Dujen. The ſame evening his Lordſhip advanced with his huſſars and chaſſeurs to the heights behind Coppeinhagen, and drove in the advanced poſts of Chabot's corps encamped near Eſcherſhauſen. This corps conſiſted of 12 battalions and 20 ſquadrons, beſides light troops. Lord Granby not thinking it ſafe, or neceſſary, to occupy thoſe heights that night, poſted his light troops in a wood between his camp and Coppelnhagen.

The next day, the 5th, the day fixed for the enterprize on Chabot's corps, the army marched at 3 o'clock, and were to have attacked the enemy in front. Lord Granby's reſerve marched at 4, and occupied the heighths on the enemy's right, to be at hand to ſupport the light troops, who were to have got in their rear. Lieutenant General Hardenberg had orders to paſs the Weſer near Bodenwerden at midnight, and to have occupied, by break of day, the gorge on the enemy's left. But unfortunately his Excellency did not paſs the river till late on the morning of the 5th, owing to his bridge not being finiſhed in time; by which means M. de Chabot got off by his left with little or no loſs. A certain part of the army were of opinion, that, upon ſuch an occaſion, General Hardenberg might have paſſed his infantry en croupe [behind the horſemen] or even have made them ford the Weſer, as it was ſaid that it would not have taken them above the waiſt. Certain it is, that if M. de Hardenberg had arrived in time, few of the enemy had eſcaped; as it was, their retreat was confuſed and precipitate, whole battalions firing in the air upon their being the leaſt puſhed by the huſſars.

M. de Chabot being diſpoſted, the army encamped near Eſcherſhauſen, and Lord Granby received orders to take his poſition, having Wenzell in the front of his right, and Hillſhauſen behind his left. His Lordſhip's reſerve was this day reinforced by Cavendiſh's brigade, four German battalions, the brigade of dragoon guards, Elliot's regiment, and Maxwell's chaſſeurs.

To favour and ſecure the above operations, the Hereditary Prince had marched with a very large corps from the environs of Hildeſheim, by Alfelt and Grene, towards Eimbeck. The French had three brigades encamped upon the Hube, a mountain juſt above Eimbeck; and a great part of their army arrived in the neighbourhood of that town before mid-day on the 5th. About 3 o'clock a very ſmart cannonade began between the Hereditary Prince and Marſhal Broglio, who was in perſon with the corps on the Hube; it laſted till it was dark. Our loſs was very inconſiderable, except the Major of Wangenheim's regiment; not exceeding 25 men killed and wounded. The enemy were ſaid to loſe 14 officers, and near 200 men.

The 6th, Prince Ferdinand ordered the enemy's poſition to be thoroughly reconnoitred; and upon finding that their army was aſſembled, and that they were too ſtrongly poſted to be attacked, he ordered Lord Granby's reſerve to approach the army, which ſtill continued in the neighbourhood of Eſcherſhauſen; his Lordſhip marched at 10 o'clock the night of the 6th, and did not arrive at his ground near Worwoole, till 7 in the morning of the 7th, though his march did not exceed five miles; never was any thing ſeverer than this night's march; it ſnow'd or rain'd the whole night in the troops faces, and the road was ſo ſlippery, that the ſoldiers ſeldom made three ſteps without falling.

The Hereditary Prince's corps made a movement the ſame night; if I miſtake not, their emplacement was near Ammenſin.

About 11 o'clock on the 7th, Lieut. Col. Maxwell, who was poſted about half a mile in Lord Granby's front, reported, that the enemy advanced in force: His Lordſhip immediately galloped to the poſt of Chaſſeurs, and finding the Lieut. Colonel's report well founded, ordered three battalions inſtantly to advance to ſupport the Chaſſeurs, who already were puſhed, and had received orders to fall back. His Lordſhip likewiſe ordered the whole corps under arms, and Lieut. Col. Beckwith, with the two battalions of Engliſh grenadiers, to gain the ſummit of the Elvaſt, a mountain upon the right of the corps, which was of the laſt importance. The troops, notwithſtanding the fatigues of the preceding night, were under arms in an inſtant; the grenadiers marched up the hill with their uſual vigour, and their advanced guard arrived at the ſummit at the ſame inſtant with a party of the enemy, whom after a ſhort reſiſtance they drove down the hill, with the loſs of ten men; one grenadier only was wounded on this occaſion. At this critical moment Prince Ferdinand arrived: His Serene Highneſs expreſſed the higheſt ſatisfaction with the condition he found matters in, ordered the Chaſſeurs to re-occupy their poſt, whilſt the army marched on to ſuſtain them, beating the grenadiers march. The enemy perceiving the good countenance with which the troops advanced, and the grenadiers gaining their left flank, began to retire on every ſide. Some companies of grenadiers, and Lord George Lenox, with part of Griffin's regiment, purſued them to their advanced poſts; this corps conſiſted of the grenadiers and chaſſeurs of the French army. Their cavalry was the carabineers de Carmee, with ſome choſen light troops, the whole ſuppoſed to be about 5000 men, commanded by Lieut. Gen. the Count de Broglio. Lord Granby's activity on this occaſion, and the promptitude with which he decided, prove that he was born to command: The ardor and good will of the troops merit the higheſt encomium.

The next day, the 8th, was paſſed in reconnoitring; in the evening Lord Granby received orders to be ready to march at 6 o'clock the next morning; but he was not to quit his emplacement till relieved by the Hereditary Prince's corps.

The 9th, the Quarter-Maſter-General advanced to reconnoitre, covered by four battalions and ſix ſquadrons, which brought on a good deal of firing; about noon, the army occupied their camp on the height of Wangleſtead. Lord Granby not hearing any thing of the Hereditary Prince, remained in his poſition near Worwoole. Towards 3 o'clock Marſhal Broglio, with great part of his army, advanced upon his Lordſhip's corps; but finding every thing in order to receive him, and the Hereditary Prince on the heighths on Lord Granby's left, he ſtopt ſhort, and ſoon after returned to his camp (Captain Courtney, of the 20th regiment, who at the head of the chaſſeurs of his regiment, and thoſe of Erſkine's, attacked and forced a French battalion, was killed this afternoon; he was a young man full of valour and ambition, he gave up the employment of Major of brigade, and the comforts of a General's table, for an opportunity of ſeeing ſervice, and diſtinguiſhing himſelf.) Lord Granby's corps, as ſoon as their out-poſts were relieved by the Hereditary Prince, marched to their camp in the front of the army.

The 10th, the French army began to retire, and have continued to do ſo till this day, pas a pas.

The 11th was paſſed in regulating the cantonments for our army; and the 12th the army marched into them, except eight battalions encamped on the Hube under Lieut. General Conway.

We flatter ourſelves that we ſhall ſoon go into winter quarters, and hope that our countrymen will be ſatisfied with the campaign we have made againſt the whole power of France. We likewiſe are in hopes, that if we have another campaign, our battalions will be completed, not by miſerable independents (the diſgrace of the nation) but by men who are capable of doing honour to their country.

CHARLESTOWN (South-Carolina) Jan. 30.

The laſt accounts of the Cherokees are, that they do not behave amiſs; and from the back-ſettlements, that the Long-canes people are re ſettling their plantations, and many others returning to the frontiers, upon a preſumption that the late treaty will be obſerved by the Indians.

A late letter from the Weſt-Indies, ſays, "Our fleet is before Martinico:-----The French inhabitants are entrenching themſelves in the mountains, and other moſt inacceſſible places. Every thing has been done by them to make the ſiege a long one; but we know all their motions, by the chanel of St. Euſtatius, &c."

Captain William Thompſon, who arrived on Thurſday evening in Rebellion Road from Cadiz, and is juſt come up to town, gives us the following extraordinary piece of intelligence, viz. That on the 14th of laſt month, being at an Engliſh houſe in Cadiz, and poſt-day, he heard a letter was juſt come to the conſul from the Earl of Briſtol, the Britiſh ambaſſador at Madrid, acquainting him, "that a rupture between the courts of Spain and Great-Britain was "unavoidable; that he expected war would be declared, on their "part, in two days; and adviſing, that he would give notice there-"of to all the Britiſh ſubjects, merchants, and maſters of veſſels, "that they might depart the kingdom forthwith." That upon hearing this, he went on board the Favourite man of war, to enquire into the truth of what he had heard; that the captain was gone to the conſul's, at Port St. Mary's, but the lieutenant aſſured him it was fact, as he did other maſters of veſſels: That thereupon people were hired to get all the Britiſh veſſels in readineſs to ſail early the next morning, the 15th; when the Favourite made a ſignal, although the wind blew very freſh into the bay, for all ſuch veſſels to cut or ſlip, and make the beſt of their way to ſea, which they accordingly did, ſome without having landed half their cargoes, and all, except our informant, who made directly for this port, and a ſnow belonging to New-York, one Patterſon maſter, who could not get out, proceeded with the Favourite and Gramont to Gibraltar. Capt. Thompſon adds, that when he left the Bay of Cadiz, 7 ſail of Spaniſh ſhips of the line, and a frigate, were there, all rigged, and their ſails bent, ready to put to ſea, but that they were very ill manned.

According to the moſt authentic advices, every thing remains quiet in the Creek nation. And,

As we have no late accounts from the Cherokees, it is to be preſumed, that thoſe Indians are likewiſe quiet. It is probable we ſhall hear from that quarter when the Little Carpenter, &c. reach home.

Captain Smith, who arrived here yeſterday from the Orkneys, on the 17th inſtant, in lat. 31 : 30, about 100 leagues to the eaſtward of this bar, ſpoke with his Majeſty's ſhips Dover and Zephyr, and the tranſports under their convoy, bound for the Weſt-Indies, all well on board.

Our laſt letters from Providence, dated the 15 inſtant, mention a report, that ſeven large Spaniſh ſhips of the line are ſailed from the Havanna for Matinico.

The following prizes have been lately carried into Providence, viz.

1. A ſloop called the Johns, having on board near 600 barrels of flour, taken within three or four leagues of St. Mark's in Hiſpaniola, for which ſhe was directly ſteering: She hoiſted French colours when the privateer's boat came along ſide of her, in the room of an Engliſh jack, which ſhe then lowered, and engaged the boat about a quarter of an hour, when the boat boarded and brought her to the privateer.

2. A ſchooner called the Induſtry, belonging to Salem, loaded with ſugars, &c.

3. A French brig from Miſſiſippi for France, taken by Captain Little.

4. A French brig (late the Molly of this port) now called La Chapelle, Laurens Miſſion maſter, from the Ocayes, bound for Miſſiſippi, laden with beef, butter, brandy, wine, flour, gunpowder, rum, ſugar, and dry goods; taken by the Polly, Capt. Dean.

5. A French ſchooner, called L'Aimable Marie, Paul au Grou, maſter, from Cape-Francois.

6. A French ſchooner, called Le St. Barbare, with ſundry goods, &c. taken out of ſmall craft along the ſhore of Hiſpaniola.

7. A New-England built ſhip, called the St. Nicholas, loaded with ſugars, commanded by a Frenchman, named Blanchard, having a ſett of French papers, bound from Port St. Louis for New-York; taken by the General Shirley, Capt. Clifford.

PHILADELPHIA.

On Tueſday laſt Captain NOARTH arrived in Town from South-Carolina, by whom we have theſe further Advices, viz.

CHARLESTOWN, South-Carolina, Jan. 27.

The maſter of a ſchooner from Jamaica for Philadelphia, who put in here for neceſſaries laſt Friday, put into the Havannah in diſtreſs about three weeks before, where he had a guard of ſoldiers put on board his veſſel, and was ordered to depart in about eighteen hours, with only one caſk of water, and a few yams, &c. A French privateer was then in the harbour, and treated with all indulgence. The Spaniards ſaid they had eleven men of war there: He ſaw ſeven of the line, all rigged; but believes they were not manned.

Feb. 3. It is ſaid the new French governor of Martinico was arrived, and ſeemed not much pleaſed with the ſtate wherein he found the iſland, notwithſtanding the gaſconading accounts publiſhed by the French, of their preparations againſt an attack.

Yeſterday the ſloop Wolf, Capt. Lawrence, from St. Auguſtine for New-York, put in here to repair ſome damage ſhe had received on Friday laſt in a hard gale from W.N.W. which waſhed the caboofe overboard, carried away the jib-boom, ſprung her boltſprit, and did other damage. Don Lucas Palacio, late governor of St. Auguſtine, died there ſuddenly about the beginning of December laſt, and Don Alonzo de Cardenas S. Mayore has taken upon him the government, till his Catholic majeſty's pleaſure be known.

Feb. 10. On Monday the body of merchants and traders, concerned in importing goods, gave a very handſome entertainment to Captain Robert Keeler, of his Majeſty's ſhip Dolphin, when he received their thanks for the great care he has taken of the trade of this province.

Letters from fort Prince-George, of a freſh date, ſay, the Cherokee Indians behave extremely well, particularly the famous Salloue, Serowee, or Young Warrior of Eſtatoe, who was to pay a viſit to Captain Macintoſh, about 7 days ago. Attakullakulla, with the other Cherokee headmen that ratified the peace with his honour the Lieutenant Governor, were not arrived when theſe advices were dated; and we learn, that thoſe Indians were ill uſed by ſome lawleſs people in the Back Country, and obliged to remain at Congarees, till a party of the rangers were ordered to eſcorte them up. The diligence of the magiſtrates, and others, in endeavouring to bring the offenders to juſtice, entirely removed any umbrage that Attakullakulla and the others might have conceived from ſuch proceedings.

Feb. 13. On Sunday laſt arrived here Capt. James Gilcriſt from Barbados, who informs us, that 21 days before, he paſſed through part of Admiral Rodney's ſquadron, lying in a bay about five leagues to windward of Fort Royal harbour, in Martinico, where there is a ſettlement of about 36 houſes, and ſo near the ſhore that he could ſee the people at their doors, and hear our drums beat: That as he paſſed by that place one of the men of war's boats boarded him, the officer in which told him, that thirteen ſhips of the line were then under orders to enter the harbour and attack Fort Royal by ſea, at the ſame time that the army ſhould come before it on the land ſide.

Our letters from Barbados by Capt. Gilcriſt, ſay, that the expedition fleet, when it ſailed from thence, conſiſted of 173 ſail: That all the ports and bays in Martinico had been ſo cloſely blocked up by frigates, armed veſſels, and a few large ſhips, from the beginning of November, that it was ſcarce poſſible for any thing to get in or out. That the force employed on this expedition, conſiſted of 17 ſhips of the line, 16 frigates, 3 ſloops, 3 bombs, 5 tenders, and 14 other armed veſſels, mounting 1832 guns, and carrying 12,997 men; and 16,758 land forces, including the troops raiſed in the iſlands, 1668 marines; with the remainder of the Queen's regiment of volunteers, expected from England, and 1060 men expected from hence with Col. Grant.-----The troops from Belleiſle were only 2275 men; and of the Queen's regiment of volunteers, only 200 had as yet arrived at Barbados.

Feb. 17. All accounts from the South and Weſt agree, that the ſeveral Indian nations continue well affected to the Britiſh intereſt. The Creek indians carry on the ſcalping war againſt the Spaniards with much inveteracy.

February 20.

Extract of a letter from Cape-Fear, dated the 15th inſtant.

"Capt. Forſter, in the ſnow Vaughan, is juſt arrived from Barbados, and paſſed cloſe by our fleet, at anchor about 4 miles from Fort Royal in Martinico, and ſays, he thought he perceived Engliſh colours on a ſmall fort near where the fleet lay: That our forces at firſt landed about two leagues to windward, at a place called Trois-Rivieres, but finding it almoſt impracticable to draw the cannon over the mountains and through other obſtructions, they had been re-embarked and put aſhore where he ſaw the fleet: He adds, that he obſerved 4 of our men of war coming out of Fort Royal Harbour, where he judged they had been to reconnoitre, and at the ſame time, others getting under ſail from the fleet, which he imagines were going in, to begin the attack of that place the next morning."

From the ANTIGUA GAZETTE.

Antigua, Jan. 27. On Saturday laſt arrived here in two days from Martinico, Capts. Leaycroft and Baſſet, by whom we have the following intelligence, viz. That our troops had encamped about 7 miles from Point Negro, and had erected three grand batteries, which would be opened againſt the enemy on Saturday: That our Indians and light infantry have had ſeveral ſkirmiſhes with the enemy, in each of which they had been victorious, and had taken ſeveral priſoners: That our loſs in killed and wounded ſince our firſt landing does not exceed 30, and that of the enemy to about 500: That the French general had given a reward of two moidores for every leg, arm, or head brought into his camp, which has exaſperated our ſoldiers and Indians ſo much, that they have ſent in a number of the French Negroes ſcalped to their general: That our people were all well, and in high ſpirits, and made no doubt of an eaſy conqueſt.

By his majeſty's brig Antigua, which arrived at Engliſh harbour on Saturday laſt from Guadaloupe, we have been favoured with the following manifeſto, which was found on board a Spaniſh ſnow carried in there.

Madrid, December 15, 1761.

"Since the commencement of the war between France and "England, the court of Spain has endeavoured to accommodate "matters between them, but the Britiſh court being ambitious, "would not hear of an accommodation, and ſtill goes on in her "encroachments on the French Weſt-India ſettlements; and not "being ſatisfied with thoſe conqueſts, has alſo taken poſſeſſion of "ſome part of the Spaniſh main, in order to ſecure the whole trade "to themſelves; and in order to accommodate matters, the court "of Spain had lately propoſed a new plan of pacification between "the two crowns, which was communicated to the Earl of Briſtol, "who immediately aſked, Whether his catholic majeſty intended "to ſide with France or not, and demanded a categorical anſwer; "which, if he was refuſed ſuch anſwer, he would look on the "ſame as a declaration of war, and return to England. Upon "which his catholic majeſty told him, That he might return "to England when he pleaſed, and as the Engliſh have been the "firſt aggreſſors, he would take care to order his ambaſſador from "England immediately, and look on the Engliſh as Enemies to "Spain; and therefore forbid all his ſubjects from holding a correſpondence with them, but to diſtreſs them to the utmoſt of their "power. He farther deſires, that this inſtrument be publiſhed "throughout his dominions, being conſcious he had juſt cauſe for "ſo doing."

A letter from Montſerrat, of the 28th of January, ſays,---"We hear all our forces are ſafe landed at Martinico without loſs, and that they have marched within 50 yards of the French intrenchments (all in good health and great ſpirits) at Fort Royal, and were preparing to give them battle. We expect daily to hear of our ſucceſs in being in poſſeſſion of Fort Royal.

BOSTON, February 22.

Extract of a letter from Liſbon, December 16.

"The 7th inſtant arrived the Portland man of war, in 12 Days from England, and brings an expreſs to our Envoy. Since her arrival all our men of war are ſtopped, and the packet is ordered to be ready at an hour's warning. 'Tis ſaid ſix ſail of the line are daily expected here. Yeſterday the Jamaica and Albany ſloops arrived from Vigo; none of our men of war are ſuffered to go out a cruiſing; 'tis the general opinion that we ſhall have a Spaniſh war or a peace very ſoon."

On the 6th inſtant, about noon, as one Mr. John Davis, of Palmer, was at work in a ſaw-mill in that town, the wheel catched his arm, and drew in his body, which carried him into the water, where his body ſtopped the wheel; he lay in that condition for two hours, before ſufficient help could be had; altho' he lay ſo long in cold water, with the wheel preſſing againſt his body, and while the wheel and ſhaft were cutting to pieces with a very dull ax, yet he was taken out alive, having his fleſh torn off his arm, and the main bone of it broke.

Feb. 25. We hear that orders are come over to the ſeveral governors on the continent, for raiſing the like numbers of men raiſed by them laſt year, and under the like encouragement of a compenſation. Which men are to ſerve under his Majeſty's General and commander in chief here, while the regular troops are employed in ſome important ſervice abroad.

NEWPORT, in RHODE-ISLAND, February 23.

On Thurſday night laſt, about ten o'clock, the inhabitants of this town were alarmed by the cry of fire, which proved to be in a ſtore on the Long Wharff, in which, and three ſtores adjoining, were depoſited a quantity of Weſt-India and other goods, to the amount of Eight Thouſand Pounds lawful money: Theſe, before the fire could be extinguiſhed, were all conſumed. Two brigs would probably have ſhared the ſame fate, had not their maſts been immediately cut away. It happened providentially, that all the houſes were covered with ſnow, otherwiſe the whole place might have been laid in aſhes, as the wind was weſterly, which blew directly upon the town, and carried with it large flakes of fire, which flew to a great diſtance. This was no accident, but perpetrated by an abandoned Negroe, who is now confined in his Majeſty's goal in this town, waiting the demerits of his crime.

NEW-YORK, March 3.

Some evil minded perſon or perſons, whether white or black is uncertain, a few nights ago made a preparation at the back of a houſe in Broad-ſtreet, for the ſetting the neighbourhood on fire; but as it was happily diſcovered before their deſign was executed, a watch has been kept for ſeveral nights paſt near the place, and it is not doubted but the contrivers will be come at ſhortly. Their preparation was of a vaſtly dry ſubſtance, which would readily kindle; and ſuſpended in ſuch a manner, that it would have been a miracle if the houſe had not been in flames in an inſtant.

March 4. We are credibly informed, that a ſmart ſhock of an earthquake was felt, about four o'clock, in the morning of the 21ſt ult. at Middletown and Woodbridge (New-Jerſey) and other parts adjacent.

March 8. Yeſterday morning Col. Peter Schuyler departed this life, at his ſeat at Newark, in Eaſt New-Jerſey, greatly and juſtly lamented. He did honour to his country, and gave a noble example to others: And it will be allowed by all who knew him, that he was a ſincere Friend, humane, beneficent, and juſt, to all mankind.

The ſharp and very ſevere weather which we have had only a few days paſt, occaſioned more ice in our rivers and bay than we have had the whole ſeaſon before, which interrupts our navigation conſiderably; but as the weather now moderates, we are in hopes the ſeveral veſſels ready to ſail, will ſoon put to ſea for their reſpective ports.

Such various attempts to rob, and ſo many robberies actually committed, having of late been very frequent within the circuits of this city, both day and night; it is become hazardous for any perſon to walk in the latter without being well provided; and the doors of dwelling-houſes well ſecured.

The ſtore of Abraham Schenk, Eſq; on Moore's wharff, was, on Saturday night laſt, broke open, and robbed of a box or trunk, containing things of value. The thief had ſecreted himſelf in the houſe, and while the ſtore-keeper was abſent on buſineſs about ſeven o'clock, he took the opportunity to execute his deſign.

A boat was attempted to be robbed laſt night, but the fellow was nabbed, and properly taken care of.

PETERSBURGH,

THE ſpouſe of a Prince of Mongalia, [illegible] here to ſeek a refuge, died laſt week. The Chan of Updoria, her huſband, allied with ſeveral pretty Chans, has waged continual war againſt the Chineſe for near a century. Three years ago he took a journey to Pekin, where he gained the affections and confidence of the Court. He pretended, during his ſtay there, that he came not only to make his perſonal ſubmiſſion to the Emperor of China, but that he was reſolved, provided the Court would ſend 20,000 men to the frontiers of his country, to render all the Chans, his allies, tributaries to the Emperor, and to conquer their countries. This propoſal he ſupported by ſo many plauſible arguments, that at length he was entruſted with the command of 30,000 men, whom he led to the frontiers of his country. Upon his arrival there, he left the army, under pretence of aſſembling his own troops: mean while he exhorted the Chans his allies to arm themſelves; and being joined by them, he fell unexpectedly upon the Chineſe, and put the whole to the ſword, ſcarce 30 eſcaping to carry the news of this diſaſter to Pekin.

To revenge this treachery, the Chineſe came laſt year to over-run his country with a numerous force. The two armies met, and fought 17 hours ſucceſſively with the greateſt animoſity. The Chan's army was deſtroyed, and he himſelf forced to fly for ſafety, with about 600 families, to Siberia, where he died laſt winter. His extenſive country hath been pillaged, and converted into a deſart. The Ruſſian government have aſſigned the families that fled to Siberia, ſafe habitations on the frontiers towards Perſia.

Teimuras, Czar of Georgia, Chachetſkoy, and Kartalinſkoy, known by the name of Lord of Georgia, is ſtill at Peterſburgh. He came to ſolicit the Court to aſſiſt him with 20,000 men; but he is not like to ſucceed.

Conſtantinople, Oct. 20. The peſtilence ſtill makes great havock in this city, and likewiſe in the ſuburbs of Pera and Galathea; but as winter is coming on, we hope to be ſoon delivered from this dreadful ſcourge.

Ratiſbon, Nov. 30. The States of the Circle of Franconia have ſent letters to the Emperor, dated the 16th, ſetting forth, That the three invaſions of their country by the Pruſſians; the frequent paſſing of whole armies, of recruits, and implements of war; the encampment of ſome bodies of troops, the triple contingent, the quartering of the hoſpitals, the cantonments, the poſts and winter quarters, have already coſt the Circle twenty-three millions of florins [about 20d. each.] And therefore praying his Imperial Majeſty to employ his good offices with the Courts of France, to induce them to make no further demands, otherwiſe the Circle will be wholly unable to furniſh its quota to the contingents.

If we ſuppoſe the other eight Circles of the Empire to have ſuffered as much as Franconia, the total will be 207 millions. But the loſs ſuſtained by the Circles of Upper and Lower Saxony, the Upper and Lower Rhine, and Weſtphalia, may be ſet at double, which will add to the above ſum 115 millions, and the whole will be 322 millions. And even this is probably not half of what the war hath coſt Germany; ſince there is no compariſon to be made between the loſſes of the Circle of Franconia, and thoſe of Saxony, Bohemia, Sileſia, Weſtphalia, Hanover, Heſſe, Pomerania, Brandebourg, and Luſatia, beſides the burning of houſes, the devaſtation of the lands, and the depopulation.

If to all this we add the expences of France, England, Ruſſia, and Sweden, what an immenſe ſum will be the amount of the charges of a war, of which, at the beginning, the object was obſcure, and the motives uncertain. And what hath Germany, or rather the Powers by whom the war is carried on there, hitherto gained by it?

LONDON.

Nov. 19. An enterpriſing Miniſter at the Dyet of Ratiſbon, has been for ſome time paſt inſinuating a propoſition of a very extraordinary kind, which is a ſort of compromiſe between the Catholics and the Evangelic Body. His aim is, that the former ſhould heartily and ſincerely interpoſe to prevent any violation of the privileges granted by the laws of the Empire to the latter. In return for this he ſuggeſts, that the Proteſtants ſhall concur with the Catholics in preventing any future ſecularizations. By this coalition he pretends that both parties will effectually carry their point; that the peace of the Empire will be better ſecured than it has ever been; and that upon this baſis a treaty may be founded, which may ſupply the defects in that of Weſtphalia, and prevent Germany from being over-run by foreign armies.

The affair of the Jeſuits is become very ſerious at Paris. People of all ranks and profeſſions in that city have withdrawn their children from their colleges; and though their example has not been followed in ſome of the provinces, yet it is evident that there are not above two parliaments that incline to favour this ſociety. The parliament of Paris ſeems determined to reſume the proceedings againſt them in April; and it is obſerved that many of the Princes, and moſt of the great Nobility, do not permit them to frequent their houſes as formerly.

They write from Paris, that it is expected that ſome further changes will be made in the Miniſtry. That many people are perſuaded, that the rupture of the late negotiation was owing to the intrigues of Madame de Pompadour, and the Marquis de Grimaldi, a man of a buſy and enterpriſing ſpirit, who, they ſay, has fed the court with falſe hopes and falacious promiſes, by which they have been deprived of the return of peace, for which the whole nation ſtill longs.

Nov. 24. Yeſterday afternoon died at his houſe in Featherſtone-ſtreet, in the 81ſt year of his age, the Rev. and learned Dr. John Guyſe, a very eminent Diſſenting Miniſter of this city.

Dec. 1. We hear that the Right Hon. Stewart Mackenzie, brother to the Earl of Bute, is to be appointed Secretary of State for Scotland, a place formerly held by the Earl of Tweedale.

Dec. 3. The Lord Viſcount Stormont, our Miniſter Plenipotentiary to the Congreſs at Augſbourg, ſet out the 18th ult. on a tour from Ratiſbon to London, and to make Magdeburgh in his way: he has left great part of his baggage at Augſbourg.

The Parliament of Paris proceed vigourouſly in their enquiries into the eſtabliſhments and revenues of the order of Jeſuits in France, within their Juriſdiction. The true reaſon of this is ſaid to be, that many of the principal magiſtrates in that reſpectable aſſembly, think they have already gone too far to look back, and that it equally imports the nation in general, and themſelves in particular, to provide for their own ſafety, againſt ſo artful and vindictive a ſett of men, by an entire expulſion of the ſociety. The fathers however have ſtill friends at Court, but not of ſo high a rank, or in ſo great a number as they had very lately.

By the laſt letters from Liſbon there is an account that an Engliſh gentleman belonging to the Factory had received an anonymous letter, deſiring 70 moidores might be brought to a certain place out of town; and threatening, in caſe of refuſal, very fatal conſequences. The gentleman applied for a guard, which was granted, an officer and four men went to the place at the appointed time, when they found Fidol Goti, a young Nobleman, with a Prieſt with him, on horſeback, who came for the money. They were both taken and committed to priſon. Some letters ſay one of them was ſhot.

The French King hath made an agreement with his high allies, by which all who deſerted from his armies before the publication of the late amneſty, and are in the ſervice of thoſe powers, may continue in it for the time they enliſted, and afterwards return in full ſecurity to France; and all French deſerters, wherever diſperſed throughout Europe, who do not chuſe to return to their colours, if they will enliſt for three years in the ſervice of any of the King's allies, will, at the expiration of that term, be conſidered in the ſame light, as if they had joined their reſpective corps.

Dec. 10. The citizens of Dublin judging it incumbent on the city to give ſome public teſtimony of their eſteem for all diſtinguiſhed loyal and patriot Characters, long uſed their utmoſt means to procure the Patriot Miniſter the freedom of that metropolis, before they could induce the ruling part of the city to conſent. They waited long impatiently for an Addreſs of Condolance with their fellow-ſubjects, upon the Reſignation of that moſt worthy Miniſter, and of thanks to him for the happy fruits of his adminiſtration. Judging it diſhonourable to let ſuch an intereſting event paſs over in ſilence, an advertiſement was publiſhed to invite the citizens to conſider of ſuch an addreſs, when the following was agreed upon, and ſigned by ſeveral hundred merchants, traders, and other citizens.

To the Right Hon. WILLIAM PITT, Eſq; late one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State,

The grateful Addreſs of the Merchants and Traders of the City of Dublin.

WE his Majeſty's moſt loyal, dutiful and affectionate ſubjects, the Merchants, Traders, and other Citizens of the city of Dublin, whoſe names are under-written, judge theſe kingdoms too deeply intereſted in your withdrawing from the high ſtation you have lately ſo eminently and greatly filled, to the honour and ſatisfaction of the Crown and the Subjects, to let ſo important an event paſs over in ſilence.

Though thus far removed from the great ſcene of action, we ſenſibly felt the manifold good effects of your truly patriot and ſingularly wiſe and upright adminiſtration.

To this we muſt attribute the reſcuing Britain from the ſhameful infection of that peſtilential, miniſterial panic, which called foreign mercenaries to the defence of a country, by her native force, when properly exerted, more than a match for half the powers of Europe.

To your ſteady virtues we ſtand indebted, for freeing our Mother Country from the reproach of calling foreign troops to defend her from a threatened invaſion, and for chaſtizing the inſolence of the vaunting invader, by inſpiring the councils and arms of Britain with that antient true national ſpirit, which, when duly exerted, ever has, and ever muſt render the Britiſh name terrible to her foes in the utmoſt extremities of the globe.

Under ſuch an Adminiſtration we muſt always ſee, inſtead of private intereſt, Merit, the only recommendation to places of important truſt. By ſuch meaſures, as theſe, it is that we have ſeen commerce accompanying conqueſt to the remoteſt parts of the earth; while Faction was ſilenced, and jarring Parties reconciled and united at home.

Thus, Sir, have your ſteady Patriot Virtues raiſed monuments to your Fame more durable than marble or braſs.

As the Enemies of theſe kingdoms never had ſo great cauſe to exult, as they have from your withdrawing yourſelf from the ſphere in which alone you could render theſe unſpeakably great ſervices to your Country; ſo the true Friends of theſe kingdoms never had more juſt cauſe to mourn.

We ſhould therefore think ourſelves wanting in duty to our Patriot King, to our Mother Country, as well as our Native, did we omit giving this public teſtimony of our ſenſe of the loſs which all ſuſtain, by the withdrawing of a Miniſter of ſuch matchleſs abilities, and equal fidelity, at ſo important and critical a conjuncture as the preſent.

Indulge us thus, Great Sir, in venting our griefs and blending our tears with thoſe of the reſt of our mourning brethren and fellow-ſubjects in Britain, as well as in other parts of this kingdom. Accept our moſt hearty and unfeigned acknowledgements for the unſpeakable ſervices and laſting honours you have already done your native country, and all the dominions of the Crown of Britain. And give us leave to aſſure you that we ſhall ever admire, and ever with profound reſpect and gratitude remember, the unparalleled virtues that have ſo eminently diſtinguiſhed your adminiſtration.

Dec. 12. Several extraordinary aſſemblies of the Magiſtrates and Burghers of Hamburgh have been lately held, which are now known to have been occaſioned by the bad ſucceſs of the deputation which they lately ſent to Paris, to get the liberty of trading to French ports reſtored. The ſuperior influence of the Dutch at the Court of France hath prevented the Hamburghers from ſucceeding in their application; which they find to be a great loſs to their navigation and trade.

BOSTON, February 25.

We hear that a Brigantine from Antigua, belonging to, and bound for Piſcataqua, was caſt away at La Have, near Halifax, in Nova-Scotia; and the Maſter, Michael Hooker, the Mate, ------ Ward, and the Boy, were drowned;---the Veſſel and Cargoe loſt.

NEW-YORK, March 11.

For theſe two or three Days paſt, our Harbour and Bay have been nearly clear of Ice, and moſt of the outward bound Veſſels have ſailed.

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.

By the laſt veſſel from Barbados, a Gentleman ſent his friend here the following

ACCOUNT of the Proceedings at Martinico, from the Sixth of January to the Eighteenth, viz.

6th, Made the land of Martinico, and lay to the night.

7th, Made ſail, and anchored that night in St. Ann's Bay; at 4 o'clock the Raiſonable ran aſhore.

8th, Made ſail further into the bay. At 8 o'clock the Raiſonable's crew went on ſhore, attacked a ſmall village, ſet two houſes on fire, and put the enemy to flight; ſome ſhot fired from the hills, but ſilenced by the bombs and frigate.

9th, Major Skeen ordered the ſecond brigade to land; five ſail of veſſels, bombs included, firing inceſſantly till they landed; and half an hour after their landing, Engliſh colours were flying on a battery. The rangers and light infantry divided, ſcoured the woods, and took a French officer, and four Negroes.

10th, Commodores Swanton and Douglas ſailed round to Pigeon Iſland; at 10 A. M. went aſhore, and dined at a French houſe with ſome of the light infantry; and while they were at dinner, a Serjeant acquainted the commanding officer, that about 200 of the enemy were approaching over the hills; upon which our people went to meet them; but the French ſeeing them, ſet fire to 30 acres of canes, and retreated in confuſion.----This night all but a battalion embarked; ſeveral ſoldiers diſordered by eating phyſic nutts, and two poiſoned by caſſader.

13th, Made ſail for Pigeon iſland, and came to at Grand Ance Bay, where was a ſmall fort, of 17 guns, taken by Douglas and Swanton, and in poſſeſſion of the marines, two of which, and a ſerjeant, in a ſcouting party, deſerted, or were made priſoners.---This evening Colonel Scott, with his rangers and infantry, came in from ſcouring the woods, where they met with a party of about 200 French grenadiers, whom they immediately engaged, and killed and wounded the greateſt part of them, with only the loſs of Lieutenant Barclay.

17th, Sailed for Fort Royal, with the whole fleet and army, and came in ſight of it at 8 o'clock A. M. Three ſhips of the line drew in ſhore, and began to fire againſt the redoubts on the hills; upon which the enemy's camp, at 2 o'clock, P. M. gave way, and the people left their houſes and plantations; the Carolina Indians, amounting to 150, were then landed (among whom was Silver Heels) who immediately took to the woods, and cleared them, and part of the troops landed without oppoſition.

18th, The reſt of the troops landed.---Thoſe that landed firſt had a Skirmiſh with the enemy, in which they made ſeveral priſoners, and killed and wounded many; among the killed an officer, who appeared to be of diſtinction; one of the ſoldiers took his gold watch, and another cut off one of his fingers, for the ſake of a diamond ring. By the ſeveral priſoners taken, we cannot learn that the French have above 800 regulars, viz. 400 grenadiers, 200 battalion men, and 200 Swiſs.---The enemy were much ſurpriſed to ſee ſuch a fleet and army."

WHEREAS Andrew Steuart, of Philadelphia, Printer, hath lately, in a clandeſtine Manner, and without the Conſent or Knowledge of the Author, republiſhed a Poem on Science, in a very incorrect Duodecimo Pamphlet, in order to underſell the firſt Edition; The Author of the ſaid Poem therefore hopes, that the Public will not lay to his Charge the groſs Errors of that ſpurious Edition; but attribute them either to the Ignorance or Malice of ſaid Steuart. This Practice, however iniquitous it may appear, is nevertheleſs common with this Printer: And the Author would not have troubled himſelf or the Public with ſo undeſerving a Subject, if he had not thought ſo much neceſſary, to clear himſelf from the Abſurdities of ſaid Steuart's Publication, to thoſe who may not have known the Circumſtances of this Affair.

ST. JAMES's, November 12.

The following Addreſs of the Archbiſhop, Biſhops, and Clergy, of the Province of Canterbury, in Convocation aſſembled, has been preſented to His Majeſty by the Right Rev. the Lord Biſhop of London.

Moſt Gracious SOVEREIGN,

WE your Majeſty's moſt loyal and dutiful ſubjects, the Archbiſhop, Biſhops, and Clergy, of the province of Canterbury, in Convocation aſſembled, embrace, with the greateſt pleaſure, this firſt opportunity of congratulating your Majeſty, in a body, on your acceſſion to the Throne of your Royal Grandfather, whoſe memory will ever be honoured by us; and on your auſpicious marriage to a Proteſtant Princeſs of illuſtrious extraction, moſt amiable accompliſhments, and excellent diſpoſitions.

We return your Majeſty our ſincereſt thanks for your early promiſe, that you will make it the buſineſs of your life to preſerve and ſtrengthen the Conſtitution in Church and State. To the whole of that Conſtitution we are zealouſly attached: And our attachment comprehends the ſteadieſt fidelity to your Majeſty, the deepeſt reverence for the laws of our country, the tendereſt regard to the rights of private judgment, and the trueſt value for rational liberty, in religious as well as in civil concerns.

Permit us only to expreſs our moſt cordial acknowledgment of your Majeſty's goodneſs, in publiſhing immediately a proclamation for the encouragement of piety and virtue, and for preventing and puniſhing profaneneſs and immorality. Your Majeſty's conſtant good example proves how ſeriouſly you have at heart theſe ineſtimable purpoſes; and this declared reſolution of diſcountenancing wickedneſs in all perſons of whatſoever degree or quality, and diſtinguiſhing the pious and virtuous by marks of your royal favour, muſt, as occaſions of acting upon it occur to your Majeſty, contribute powerfully to produce that general reformation in your dominions, which is ſo greatly wanted.

For we humbly repreſent to your Majeſty, as we are bound, that the mildneſs of our laws, and the lenity uſed in the execution of them, are bleſſings which licentiouſneſs hath grievouſly abuſed; that intemperance, debauchery, and irreligious diſcourſe abound; that the worſhip of God is lamentably neglected; that the Lord's day is openly diſregarded and profaned; and that books, pamphlets, and papers, are vended with impunity, the plain deſign of which, is to make the Goſpel of Chriſt an object of ſcorn, and promote ſuch impious notions, and flagitious behaviour, as tend to the deſtruction of human ſociety.

Theſe are enormities for which conſcience cannot be pleaded; and which the wiſdom of all ſtates hath judged it neceſſary to reſtrain. We firmly truſt, that your Majeſty's authority will be exerted, as far as it is requiſite, againſt them; and likewiſe againſt the unwearied endeavours, which the emiſſaries of the Church of Rome, preſuming on the indulgence exerciſed, with a truly Chriſtian ſpirit, towards the members of their communion, moſt ungratefully employ to infuſe into the minds of your Majeſty's ſubjects falſhoods, inconſiſtent with the fundamental principles of Britiſh Government.

We ſolemnly aſſure your Majeſty, that we will, each of us in our ſeveral ſtations, attentively perform whatever is incumbent on us, in relation to theſe matters; that we will faithfully oppoſe every dangerous error, diligently teach every needful truth, and ſhew ourſelves in all things patterns of good works. We will alſo, whenever your Majeſty ſhall think it a fit ſeaſon, be ready, with much thankfulneſs, and caution againſt giving offence, to conſider jointly of ſuch proviſions, as may conduce to the better direction of our brethren of the Clergy, and the greater edification of the flocks committed to our care.

In the mean time, we heartily bleſs God for the many ſingular advantages that we enjoy under your Majeſty's fatherly protection; and we earneſtly pray Him to give ſuch further ſucceſs to your arms, as may ſecure a beneficial and laſting peace; to grant you a long and proſperous reign over a people ſtriving to be worthy of it; and to crown you with all domeſtick, as well as publick happineſs in this world, and with eternal felicity in the next.

To which addreſs his Majeſty was pleaſed to return the following moſt gracious anſwer.

'I thank you for this very dutiful and loyal addreſs: 'The affectionate expreſſions which it contains, for your 'regard towards the Queen, and your zeal for the ſupport and honour of my government, are highly acceptable to me. You may rely upon my conſtant reſolution 'to maintain the excellent conſtitution of the Church of 'England, as by law eſtabliſhed; to diſcourage vice and 'immorality; and to enforce, by every method in my 'power, all due obedience to the precepts of our moſt 'Holy Religion.'

St. CHRISTOPHER's, Jan. 27.

By a veſſel from Martinico there is advice, that on Saturday the 16th inſtant, our forces, to the number of 8000, landed near Point Negroe. That ſix of our 70 gun ſhips engaged ſeveral of their batteries while the forces were landing, all which they deſtroyed in the ſpace of four hours: That the remainder of our forces landed next day, from whence they marched with ſeveral pieces of cannon and mortars, and were arrived within two miles of Fort-Royal, which place will ſoon be attacked both by land and ſea: That the French fired 13 bombs and ſeveral cannon from Fort-Royal at our men of war as they were going to Point Negroe, but they received no damage.

CHARLESTOWN (South-Carolina) Feb. 24.

Attakullakulla, or the Little Carpenter, with the other Cherokee Headmen, that ratified the late Treaty of Peace, are arrived in their own country, where every thing continues quiet.

March 3. On enquiry it appears, that the expences incurred by this province alone, on account of the late Indian war, amounted, on the 19th paſt, to upwards of One Hundred and Seven Thouſand Pounds Sterling, beſides ſeveral demands which had not then appeared, and excluſive of the great charge our mother country was at on the ſame account. The provinces of Virginia and North-Carolina have likewiſe been at a great expence, but happily now every thing continues to look like peace with the Indians.

The Creek Indians ſtill continue the ſcalping war againſt the Spaniards. About three weeks ago a party of thoſe Indians went towards St. Auguſtine, and took ſome ſcalps very near that place; they likewiſe carried off a young Negroe man, belonging to Mr. Jeſſe Fiſh, a merchant there. A party of about twenty Yamaſee Indians and free Negroes ſet off in purſuit of them, on being promiſed a reward if they brought back the Negroe; they came up with the party, ſaid to be about thirty in number, at night, attacked them, and killed four, with the loſs of two of the Yamaſees, on which the Creeks fled, leaving their blankets, ammunition, &c. and Mr. Fiſh's Negroe killed and ſcalped.----In caſe of a rupture with Spain, the preſent diſpoſition of the Creeks towards the ſubjects of that crown, will prove, it is thought, no unfavourable circumſtance to this province and Georgia.

We learn from the Weſt-Indies, that the Martinico privateers are moſtly all gone to leeward, and carry their prizes to St. Thomas and St. Euſtatia; in the laſt named port there were 14 of them at one time in January laſt.

Opinions are greatly divided in regard to a Spaniſh war. There are no freſher advices from Spain than what Capt. Thompſon brought, except the manifeſto, dated at Madrid the day he left Cadiz.

March 6. Since our laſt we have heard, that the Young Lieutenant of the Coweta's has been under ſome uneaſineſs at a piece of intelligence, which he received from two white men whom he met in the woods carrying goods to the Cherokees, who were villains enough to tell him, that the Engliſh were on the point of ſending a large army againſt the Creeks, by the way of Albahma; but not giving entire credit to this wicked and infamous ſtory, he has applied, we hear, for better information, and at the ſame time ſent the ſtrongeſt aſſurances and profeſſions of his being ſtedfaſt in his friendſhip to the Engliſh. It has even been inſinuated, by ſuch vile wretches, that the Spaniards and Engliſh are to join, to extirpate the Creeks. Among the Cherokees there are the ſame ſort of people, who have told them, that while they treat with us, a large army from Virginia is to enter their country. To the practices of ſuch abandoned villains as theſe, is too often to be imputed the unexpected outrages of the Indians.

New-Shoreham (Block-Iſland) November 1761.

About the 19th of this Inſtant a Schooner was drove on Shore on this Iſland, without Maſts, Boom or Bowſprit, and Part of her Bottom out. It is ſuppoſed ſhe came from the Weſt-Indies, being laden with Rum and Sugar. With great Difficulty three Hogſheads of Rum and Part of a ſmall Caſk, containing about 40 Gallons, were ſaved out of her.---Whoever claims Property to the above, may receive it by applying to JOHN LITTLEFIELD.

BOSTON, March 8.

We hear from a Town, North of Worceſter, That a ſingle Woman was ſuſpected to be with Child; on being interrogated, owned the ſame, and laid it to a married Man, whoſe Wife was greatly diſturbed at it; but after the Birth of the Child, ſhe went to ſee it to ſatisfy herſelf; upon undreſſing the Child, and viewing its Back, ſhe determined that it was not her Huſband's, for ſhe ſaid ſhe had prayed that if it was, there might be the two firſt Letters of his Name; but finding nothing of this Appearance, went away well ſatisfied that it was not his, though he had given Bond for its Support.

March 15. At the Superior Court held here laſt Week, the noted Seth Hudſon, having been convicted on four ſeveral Indictments of counterfeiting the Province Treaſurer's Notes, was ſentenced to be ſet in the Pillory one Hour, to be whipt 20 Stripes, to ſuffer one Year's Impriſonment, and to pay £ 100 as a Fine to the King, upon each Conviction: The corporal Puniſhment to be inflicted four Times alſo. His Confederate Joſhua How, who was convicted of the like Crime on two Indictments, was ſentenced to be ſet in the Pillory one Hour, to ſuffer one Year's Impriſonment, to be whipt 39 Stripes, and to pay £ 100 Fine on each Conviction.

John Welch, Charles Lane, and John Barry, who were convicted of forging Notes on ſome Shops in this Town, were ſentenced as follows, viz. The ſaid Welch to be whipt 29 Stripes, to be impriſoned ſix Months, and to pay £ 10 Fine. Lane to be impriſoned 12 Months, and to pay £ 10 Fine, he being convicted on two Indictments. Barry to be impriſoned 3 Months, and to pay a Fine of Forty Shillings.

One John Dow, who was convicted of breaking into a Houſe at Roxbury, and ſtealing from thence, was ſentenced to be whipt 20 Stripes, and to be impriſoned ſix Months, and to pay treble Damages, &c.

Alſo one John Tirrell, who was convicted of breaking into a Shop in this Town, and ſtealing from thence, was ſentenced to be impriſoned ſix Months, to pay a Fine of Ten Pounds, and to pay treble Damages, &c.

We hear from Providence, that on Friday laſt one William Ratcliff (as he called himſelf) was publickly whipt there for Stealing: It appeared when he was ſtripped that he had been uſed to that Exerciſe, his Back being full of Marks, and ſome very lately made. He is a ſtout reſolute Fellow, with but one Hand, and 'tis thought to be the ſame Fellow that was branded in New-York about four Weeks ago for the ſame Crime; and that he and ſome others are about the Country in a Clan, upon a bad Deſign.

ANNAPOLIS (in Maryland) February 4.

We hear from St. Mary's, that a Man and a Negroe Woman are in Goal there for the cruel Murder of a Child of 3 Years of Age. It is ſaid the Child was the Man's own, which he had by a neighbouring Woman before his Marriage, and to whom he uſed to pay a Quantity of Tobacco to keep it ſecret; but on his Marriage to another, and withholding the uſual Payment, the Mother of the Child brought it to, and left it at, the Father's; who ordered his Negroe Woman to carry it back, and throw it into a Corn Field, near the Mother's Dwelling, where the poor little Innocent was the next Day found dead.

NEW-YORK, March 18.

Such a long Continuance of ſevere cold Weather at this Seaſon of the Year, as we have had for ſeveral Weeks paſt, has not been known for many Years. The Proſpect is melancholy.---The ſevere Drought laſt Summer, in this and the neighbouring Governments, greatly hurt the Crops of Grain and Hay, and the unuſual Duration of the Winter, has almoſt exhauſted the Farmer's Stores of Proviſion, which were ſhort at firſt; ſo that unleſs Providence ſpeedily interpoſes in our Favour, many of our Cattle, eſpecially in the New-England Governments, muſt periſh for Want of Food.

On Monday Morning, between 12 and 1 o'Clock, the Fire Engine Houſe belonging to Schuyler's Copper Mines, at Second River, in New-Jerſey, took Fire, and was burnt to the Ground, and the Works belonging to the Engine, which it is ſaid coſt near Ten Thouſand Pounds, were deſtroyed. It is not known by what Means the Houſe was ſet on Fire, but it is conjectured to be by the Careleſſneſs of one of the Workmen, who was the only Perſon then in the Houſe. The Fire began below, where he acknowleges he lighted a Candle when he went to Bed in an upper Room in the ſecond or third Story, where he was waked by the Fire, and throwing his Coat over his Shoulders, he ran down to the lower Floor, which fell in with him into the Flames below, but by ſome Means, which he does not at all remember, he got out, but is terribly burnt.--It is ſaid about 2000 Cord of Wood was likewiſe conſumed.

We are informed that Griffiths, who has made his Eſcape from the New Goal, effected it by the following Means: There being two others confined in the ſame Room with him, two of them agreed to endeavour an Eſcape, the third refuſed, but made no Diſcovery of the Deſign, which was to force a Paſſage through the Bars of the Chimney, aſcend to the Top of the Houſe, and let themſelves down from the Rails by a Blanket, which they had torn into Slips, and tied together for that Purpoſe. This Deſign Griffiths carried into Execution, but as he deſcended, and was got juſt below the upper Windows (as the other Priſoner informs) the Blanket broke, and he fell to the Ground, and ſeemed to have had a hard Fall.---By the Height, one would imagine he muſt have broke his Bones---however he had probably Aſſiſtants without, who if he was hurt conveyed him away, and concealed him. The breaking of the Blanket prevented the other Priſoner's Eſcape.

March 22.

Extract of a Letter from Montreal, dated the 3d Inſtant, to a Gentleman in this City.

"This Town is in the greateſt Tribulation on Account of the Loſs of a Cartel Ship that ſailed from hence the Beginning of November, and was ſoon after caſt away, and out of 120 Souls, that were on board, only ſix were ſaved; among them ſix, is the Captain, four others, and Monſieur St. Luke; the latter arrived here a few Days ago, after ſuffering much with Cold, Hunger and immenſe Fatigue: He has loſt a Brother, two Sons, two Nephews, and ſeveral Relations and Friends. There were on board the Ship 14 Officers, 10 Ladies, and 14 young Men, all of Faſhion; in ſhort, ſcarce any Body here but what has loſt ſome Relation, Friend, Child, Huſband or Wife."

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.

On Sunday laſt Captain Wallace, arrived here from Guadaloupe, but laſt from St. Chriſtophers, which he left the Middle of laſt Month, when they had no Certainty there of a Spaniſh War.-----He informs us, That His Excellency, General MONCKTON, was in Poſſeſſion of Fort Royal, in Martinico, which he got without much Oppoſition: That his whole Loſs, from the Landing, to the Time of taking that Fort, he was told, did not exceed 300 Men, who were chiefly Highlanders, occaſioned, as he heard, by a Sally from the Town; in which the Enemy were obliged to retreat, and our Troops purſuing too eagerly, ſome of the Highlanders got into the Town with the French, who ſhut the Gates upon them: And that it was thought the whole Iſland would ſoon ſurrender to the General, moſt of the Inhabitants, it was ſaid, having propoſed Terms of that Kind to him, but were rejected.

We alſo learn, that a Veſſel is arrived at Rhode-Iſland, from the Weſt-Indies, which likewiſe brings an Account of General Monckton's being in Poſſeſſion of Fort-Royal.

In a Letter from New-Providence, dated the Firſt Inſtant, it is ſaid, That a Veſſel arrived there the Day before from Jamaica, and brought Advice, that the Spaniſh Veſſels were detained there, on receiving an Account that the Engliſh Shipping were kept by the Spaniards in their Ports: And that there was an Embargo at Jamaica, for fear of an Invaſion from ſome of the Spaniſh Settlements.

The General Aſſembly of the Government of New-York, in their laſt Sitting, among others, paſſed the two following Laws, viz.

"An ACT for levying, paying and cloathing One "Thouſand Seven Hundred and Eighty-ſeven effective "Men, Officers included, to be employed in North-America, for ſecuring His Majeſty's Conqueſts there, and "for other Purpoſes therein mentioned.

"An ACT directing the Treaſurer of this Colony to "pay the Commander in Chief of all His Majeſty's Forces "in North-America, the Sum of Four Thouſand Seven "Hundred and Ninety Pounds, for His Majeſty's Service, "to be repaid when His Majeſty ſhall think proper."
